BEAVERS WIN
FROM ANGELS

Portland, Ore., June 29.—Allen Sothoron had Los Angeles at his mercy today and Portland took the second game of the series, 2 to 0.

The chunky Portland flinger allowed the Angels but three scattered hits. A. I. struck out eight and when he wasn't retiring Chance's men via that route he forced them to pop up in the air or to knock puny grounders to the infield.

Oscar Horstman started on the hill for the Angels. He was taken out in the eighth, when Johnny Bassler pitched him for him. Up to the fifth not a Beaver had gained life at first off Horstman and it looked like a merry pitchers' battle.

Horstman's own error in the Beaver half of the fifth helped put the skids under him. Rogers chopped one to Koerner and Horstman, who covered first, dropped his throw. He went to second on Stump's sacrifice. Fisher's single down the first base line, scoring Rogers. This was the first hit of the day off Horstman.

Speas beat out a scratch hit to Galoway, sending Fisher to second. Ward forced Speas at second, Fisher going to third on the play. Sothoron's scratch hit, which took a bad bound to shortstop, Butler chased the Portland backstop over. Zabel pitched the eighth inning for the Angels.

MORAN LOSES TO JACK DILLON

Pittsburg Heavyweight Out-fought and Out-pointed by Dillon in Nine Rounds—
Jack the Aggressor From Start.

New York, June 29.—Although out-weighted by fully thirty-five pounds and having a disadvantage of nearly six inches in height, Jack Dillon, the Indianapolis light-heavyweight, cleverly out-fought and out-pointed Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavyweight, in nine rounds of a ten-round bout at the Federal league baseball grounds, Washington park, tonight.

Moran's weight was announced as 204 pounds, and Dillon's 169. Dillon went on the scales in fighting togs, while Moran was stripped. The Indianapolis man was in fine condition, but Moran looked fat.

Dillon was the aggressor from the start, although Moran anded the first blow to the head. Moran, instead of playing down his opponent, but Dillon was fast and too clever for the big fellow.

Moran swung two hard rights to the stomach in the opening rounds, but Dillon came back fast and short lefts and rights to the body and face, and at the end of the round Dillon had a shade better of the round.

Moran Misses Swings.
In the second round Moran missed several attempts to land his right swing, while Dillon bored in with both hands at close quarters, always having the better of the milling, driving short lefts and rights to the stomach and bringing up snappy right half-arm jolts to the jaw and face.

The third round was the only one in which Moran had the advantage. He drove Dillon to the ropes with left and right smashes to the head and body and took Dillon across the ring, pounding him with both hands working at close range. Toward the end of this round Dillon made a fast rally, getting in his short arm work, but Moran sent two left hooks to the body and a right to the head.

At the close of the round, which was the only one in which Moran had the advantage, he seemed to be exhausted from the efforts he made in the preceding rounds.

Dillon Rushes Matters.
Dillon rushed and smashed rights and lefts and uppercuts at close quarters, one of his snappy jolts sending the blood flying from Moran's nose in the fourth round. During the next six rounds Dillon always had the upper hand, ducking Moran's swings, at times and then rushing to close quarters, where he always landed three blows to Moran's one.

Moran tried frequently to get over a right swing, but never could land it effectively, although several times he got in telling blows on the body with both left and right. At no stage from the end of the third round was Dillon in danger, as he evaded Moran's leads cleverly and Moran never appeared dangerous after Dillon had landed a left to the body and a right swing to the jaw which took Moran up from toes to head.

Moran's Final Rally.
Moran tried desperately to land a punch in the tenth round and got Dillon on the ropes with swinging lefts and rights to the body, but Dillon came back at close range again and with a right uppercut cut Moran's left eye so that the Pittsburgher left the ring with a swollen eye and his nose bleeding freely.

O'NEIL HELPS KEEP INDIANS AT FRONT

Steve O'Neil.

Steve O'Neil, Cleveland catcher, has been playing a game this season behind the bat that puts him in the front rank of big league catchers. Steve is a big item in the success of the Indians and is in fact the excellent catcher that is always found on a team that's after a pennant. Most all the managers agree that he's catching the best game of any backstop in the American league.

COVELSKIE LOSES
GAME FOR HIMSELF

Chicago, June 29.—Harry Coveleskie supported himself so poorly today that Chicago easily triumphed over Detroit, 8 to 2. In the fifth, Coveleskie made two wild throws, one of which, with the bases full, allowed the White Sox three runs. Doubles by Cobb and Heilmann, who divided the four hits off Wolfgang, were main factors in the Tiger runs. Weaver drove the ball to the far left corner of the lot for a homer in the third.

CURLEY BROWN IS HERO OF GAME

Walks One Man Purposely and Fans Seven, Winning Game for Seals 1 to 0.

San Francisco, June 29.—With Curley Brown putting the brakes on the skidding Seals, never in any such danger but he worked his way to safety through his own efforts, walking but one, and that man purposely, and fanning seven of the boys who faced him, San Francisco came through right side up with care on the Oakland grounds today.

Look at the Score.
It was 1 to 0 when the champs had squeezed out their scant victory, with but four hits allowed by the Seals' portside and no more than five off the delivery of Ray Boyd. A mis-judged bit to left field by Chick Autrey that went for three bases, where it should have been stopped down by Roy Middleton for no more than a single, and following on the heels of that a safety by Biff Schaller—all done in the first inning—tells the story of the Oakland overthrow.

Boyd pitched himself into no more rough spots, unless you count two on with two out a bad situation. Brown, in at least one of the nine innings, had his job cut out for him to hold the Oaks scoreless and it was his own mastery of the situation, with a pretty bit of fielding, that saved the day.

VERNON TIGERS ARE SHUT OUT

Utes Wallop Tigers in Fine Style—Fittery Up to Standard, Allows No Runs.

Los Angeles, Cal., June 29.—Fittery just about won his game alone today, and on the other hand, Quinn just about lost his alone.

It was a battle of pitchers, and Fittery was all to the good. The score ended 3 to 0. The Angels also lost again so the Tigers keep their lead.

Breaks Work Well.
Fittery had his breaks working like a charm and not at all did the Tigers get near the plate, or even indicate that they would get there. Fittery practically won his game in the second inning when Quinn threw it away.

Manager Patterson today signed a contract to manage the Tigers for next season. Two games tomorrow.

NOVO-ALEXANDROVSK.
RUSSIA'S NEW PORT

The general direction of the new line to the Arctic ocean is nearly due north from a point about eighty miles east of Petrograd. The whole length of the line will be about 650 miles, and it will be standard gauge and double-tracked throughout. The military value of this new warm-water port cannot be overestimated, for the opening of the new harbor and the extension of a railway to this point will remove the final obstacle to the continuous reception and dispatch of munitions and supplies, an immense advantage to Russian and her allies. Eventually this port will greatly increase Russian export trade in agricultural and dairy products, which has been shut off when winter closes the doors at her other outlets. Novo-Alexandrovsk is 400 miles nearer the Atlantic than Archangel, its temperature is more equable, and the railroad connects directly with Petrograd. The construction of the Novo-Alexandrovsk-Petrograd railway is a triumph for American engineering, for not only is it being built under tremendous difficulties by American engineers and contractors, but most of the rolling track and the great Mallet locomotives fitted to burn wood, come from the country.—Paul P. Foster in the Review of Reviews.

WHISKERS

(By Walt Mason)
I often cry, "Oh, goodness gracious! My whiskers, rank, apocynaceous, grow faster every year. It takes so much of toil and trouble to mow away the dognose stubble—I still must shear and shear." I'm shaving, with the lather foaming, at early morn and in the gloaming, and by the midnight lamp, I'm shaving when I should be earning some coin to keep the fires a-burning, till I have barber's cramp. The time men waste their whiskers mowing. If it were spent in useful sowing, would renovate the earth; why, ask the innocent bystanders, do faces run to oleanders, which have no price or worth? It must be great to be a woman, upon whose face, so fair and blooming, alfalfa doesn't grow; she doesn't, with her sisters, gather, at barber shops the taste of lather she doesn't ever know. But man must always be a-stopping; to mow away the new outcroppings his tools must have an edge, and if his whiskers are neglected his friends will cry, till he's dejected. "Come from behind the hedge!"—Copyright, 1916.

WHY, THOMAS!

"Why, is it that the telephone operators are all women?" Mrs. Thomas asked her husband.
"Well," answered Thomas, "the managers of the telephone exchanges are aware that no class of people work so faithfully as those who are in love with their job; and they knew that women would love their work at the switchboard."
"What is the work of a telephone operator?" Mrs. Thomas further inquired.
"Talking," answered Thomas.
